Criminal Revision No. 922 of 2001

Hon'ble P.C. Verma, J.

Heard learned counsel for applicants/revisionists.

The applicants are facing prosecution for an offence under Sec. 304-B, 498-A of the I.P.C. Initially final report was submitted. Thereafter an application was moved under Sec-319 of Cri.P.C. On that application, the applicants have been summoned and directly non-bailable warrants have been issued to them. Since the applicants have been found not guilty in the investigation and a final report has been submitted in that event, in my opinion, the applicants will be entitled for bail. Therefore, the order issuing non-bailable warrant shall not be enforced in case the applicants/revisionists appears on the date fixed and their application for bail shall be considered on merits expeditiously.

Subject to above the revision is disposed of finally.
